GrimmThis is a great book on Oktoberfest!While the pictures of the festival are terrific and really capture the fun and "Gemuetlichkeit" (feeling of well being) the people are having, it is the 4CD's that come with the book that are even better.I bought this book several years ago but misplaced one of my favorite CD's from the book. I missed the music of that one CD so much that I bought another book just to have that one CD!Joe Rafael and his band and others and their music make this book a must buy, especially for what I think is a very reasonable price.Being of a German heritage, I play the music daily, it is that well done.Gary Grimm0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. wonderful photos! given as hostess gift for OktoberfestBy Rchard Reynoldswonderful photos! given as hostess gift for Oktoberfest. thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by all.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. DO NOT BUYBy diegoI feel very disappointed of the purchase, the images are very poor, they do not represent the octoberfest or Germany. The music is good but also with poor quality. I do not recommend it

Oktoberfest is the greatest beer and music festival in the world, and lovers of the festival both near and far will love the people, beers, halls, tents, and music profiled in this book and CD collection. The four CDs include traditional contemporary Bavarian music, and are perfect for popping on the stereo for your own authentic Oktoberfest in your home. This global collectible book and music collection is a must have for lovers of Germany's, and now the world's, celebration of harvest, brewing, and music.

About the Author Born in Hamburg, Germany, Marlo Scheder-Bieschin left school keen for an art education but went on to study commerce, work as a foodstuffs product manager, and marry and be the young mother of three children. Family, time abroad, and moving home shaped her life between her mid-twenties and mid-thirties. The creative urge led to a partnership in a noted design and architecture office, her own furniture shop, and photography and freelance art.
