This book is a combination of my family genealogy and a cookbook. I had a great time putting it together. Whether you're a Whitbread or an Oliver or someone else, one must eat! And I married into a family that loved to eat! My mom and mother-in-law taught me how to make Hamburg gravy or as my dad, the Marine called it, 'Shit on a Shingle', scalloped potatoes, meat loaf, and many more recipes. Learning to cook meant one spent a lot of time with family members developing bonds. These bonds are best remembered with family pictures. Everyone has special memories and eating may be one. So, if you like things like Taco Salad, meat loaf, cookies and other desserts take a look inside.
